WHY OBEDIENCE TRAIN?

Laurie Lo

For most, it is to have a mannerly dog that can be taken “on the road.” But behind this desire, there stands a fundamental: obedience training provides the handler and the dog a standard method of communication. It doesn’t matter if you take a purely positive approach to training or a balanced approach, both give the team a useful language.

If you never intend to take your bearded dog into competition obedience or rally rings, taking a few obedience classes will enhance your relationship with your dog. You will be able to tailor the language that you learn in class to suit you and your dog. Couple this with reading Patricia McConnell’s The Other End of the Leash, and you will be ahead of the game when it comes to understanding and respecting your canine companion.

INTRODUCING CHERI OMNUS

BCCA AGILITY CHAIR

My name is Cheri Omnus and I got my first taste of agility back in 1996 when the Bearded Collie Club of the Golden West, in preparation for the 1997 National Specialty, invited us to an intro to agility seminar with Tammy Domico. We were living in Southern California, and Tom and I decided to make a trip of it, going to the Wine Country, but the weekend was about agility. Murray, my first Beardie, seemed to like it, but after the class on Saturday, he got to play with all the other Beardies; I think he liked that better. That seminar stuck with me but I could not find any training facilities close to our home. Agility was still so new.

In 1997, Tom and I moved to New Jersey when, with the help of Joanne Williamson, I found a training facility. Both Murray and Miller went to class. I really got hooked on agility. Miller went on to have a long career and retired in 2005. McKay was my first MACH dog and is retired now. Marco just finished his MACH in August at the age of 4 and we're excited to see what happens next. He is my first Beardie to qualify for AKC Nationals in 2015.

I've been a member of the BCCA since 1996. I've also been a member of the Garden State Bearded Collie Clan and a member of Gateway Agility Club in the St. Louis area. I've been an agility trial chair several times. In 2013 I had the privilege of chairing the National Specialty Agility trial. What a day it was! I got to meet so many club members and their wonderful Beardies. It's a day I will never forget.

THE BCCA AGILITY COMMITTEE

Cheri will be contacting all of you currently on the BCCA Agility Committee to see if you would like to serve another year. If you are not currently on the committee, but would like to be, contact Cheri. Typically we like to have people on the committee representing all parts of the country.

THE BCCA ANNUAL REPORT

To get an idea of the work of the Agility Committee and to learn what is happening in Agility, including AKC Stats, trials held by Beardie Clubs, and all Championships earned in the last year, go to the Annual Report.

THANK YOU

Thank you to Libby Myers-Buhite and David Williamson, our retiring BCCA Agility Co-Chairs. Both Libby and David, as well as Joanne Williamson, will be on hand to advise and help Cheri this coming year. Joanne will continue with Agility Awards and Statistics. Libby will continue with the BAD Website and BAD Column in the Bulletin, and David, hopefully, will still contribute an article or two to the Bagpipes!

VETIQUETTE

Maryann Szalka, BCCA Health Chair

et-i-quette

noun \ 'e-ti-kət, -, ket\

: the rules indicating the proper and polite way to behave

So what is vetiquette? The rules indicating the proper and polite way to behave when you take your beardie to visit the veterinarian. This summer I spent many days sitting in the waiting room at my vet's office due to progesterone testing, breeding, whelping and puppies. I was shocked at some of the behavior I witnessed.

- Do not take your dog to visit the vet on a Flexi leash. Keep your pet safe on a regular 6 ft lead. This is not the dog park. The vet's office is full of sick, frightened, and anxious dogs; so it's best to keep your pet restrained and under control.
- If you need to bring in a stool or urine sample, place it in a suitable container. I overheard one woman tell the receptionist her dog's stool sample was in the parking lot! And FYI your vet just needs a small amount of either for testing.
- If you are the primary care giver and cannot accompany your beardie to the vet, make sure you send a note with symptoms, date of onset, any treatment given, or other important information. Overhead one gentleman say "I don't know, my wife just said to take him to the vet."
- Be patient. Many times there are emergency situations and your vet may be running behind schedule. One day you may be the emergency case.
- Lack of planning on your part does not constitute an emergency on my part. In other words, don't wait until the last minute to take your sick dog to the vet. In most cases the earlier treatment is provided, the better the outcome.
- Rise above any embarrassment or awkwardness and be truthful to your veterinarian. "Um, I left a pound of butter on my countertop and the dog ate it". This provides valuable information and is more helpful than "Um, I don't know he just starting having diarrhea and won't eat". This also includes coming clean on any home remedies you may have tried, as well as diet and exercise routines.
- If your dog becomes aggressive at the vet's office, please inform the staff and don't allow other clients and/or their pets come in close proximity of your dog in the waiting area.
- Keep a watchful eye on your dog while you are checking out and paying your bill. Dogs can be anxious and the quarters are sometimes close. Better yet, let the staff know you will be back to take care of things once you safety secure your pet in your vehicle.
- Medical instructions are not suggestions. Administer medications as directed and when directed, keep your pet quiet and KEEP THE CONE OF SHAME ON!

2014 MEMBERSHIP AWARDS

Elizabeth Hayes and Joanne Williamson

In 2009, the BCCA's 40th anniversary year, the club honored those members who had maintained continuous membership for 30 or more years. In Gettysburg, at the National Specialty Awards banquet, this tradition was continued by recognizing those who joined the BCCA between 1980 and 1984. Several members who joined prior to 1980 were also honored because they had been missed in 2009 due to name changes.

We would like to thank Cynthia Moorhead for her gift to the club archives of a complete set of paper Bagpipes from the first issue published in March of 1977 to the last paper issue produced in September of 2010. Her generosity made it possible for us to update the club membership database to include the starting dates of all current members.

MEMBERSHIP REPORT

Under the new bylaws adopted last year, the ability of the Board to grant meritorious exceptions for late payment of dues was eliminated. Members who fail to pay dues by July 1 are required to pay a late fee of $5.00; those who have not paid by September 1 are removed from the membership database and will have to go through the application process again. Reminders were sent via the USPS to members who had not paid their dues by July 15. E-mail reminders were sent on August 15 to those members still in arrears. Thirty-seven people who were members in 2013-2014 did not renew their memberships for 2014-2015. Several informed us that they did not renew because they either no longer had a Beardie or for health reasons.. Fifteen of the 37 joined the BCCA prior to 1990; 14 of the 37 joined between 1990 and 2004; 8 of the 37 joined between 2004-2012.

The BCCA was founded in July, 1969 by 5 pioneer members. By the beginning of 1970, 48 had joined the club and the membership grew slowly but steadily, reaching a peak of almost 1200 members in the late 1990s. After 2000, the number of total members has declined, along with the registration numbers for Beardies, to our current total of 795 (206 joint/383 single) as of September 1, 2014. This decline is expected to continue as new membership applications seem to be decreasing. Seventeen new members have joined the BCCA through September of 2014.
