Can. Am. Ch. Potterdale Paris

(Eng. Ch. Pepperland Lyric John at Potterdale ex Eng. Ch. Blumberg Hadriana at Potterdale)

Imported from England at less than seven weeks of age, Parader is now recognized by all-breed judges, English breeder judges and breeders as one of the finest Beardies in North America.

In very limited showing, Parader completed his Canadian Championship at 9 months of age, and his American Championship at 18 months (including 11 points in one weekend).

Shown only twice as a Special, once at 16 months of age at the 1984 Bearded Collie Club of Canada Specialty, where he won Reserve Best in Sweepstakes and made the final cut for BOB, and at 18 months at the 1984 Bearded Collie Club of America National Specialty, where he won Best of Opposite Sex over a record entry.

Parader is a superb, free-moving dog with powerful reach and drive. He is a very sound, balanced young Beardie with an outgoing, happy personality, whom we feel confident will have a great future in and out of the show ring.

Parader has begun to prove himself as a very successful stud dog, having sired six litters whelped in 1984, several of which are nearing their championships from the puppy classes. Watch for his puppies in 1985.

A special thank you to Parader's breeders, Janet and Mike Lewis, for allowing us the opportunity to obtain this gorgeous young dog and also congratulations to Parader's litterbrother, Ch. Potterdale Ptolemy on earning his English Championship at such an early age and also winning Reserve Best In Show.

From the Editor

Due to increased postage, printing and paper costs, it has become necessary to raise advertising costs for the Bulletin.

At its February 21st meeting, the BCCA Board approved $40.00 for a full page ad with photo. The cover, including front photo and up to one-half page of text to appear on the first page of the Bulletin, is now $85.00. A half page with or without photo is $25.00; a quarter page is $15.00. Each additional photo used is $8.50.

Preferred placement ads have been increased to $20.00 for the centerfold and $15.00 for the inside cover in addition to the page ad and photo cost.

Bulletin rates remain low when compared to other similar breed publications. Quarterly circulation now numbers over 700 including mailing to all AKC judges licensed to judge Beardies.

Deadlines for the BULLETIN are approximately one month prior to publication. The following schedule will apply to the remaining issues of 1985:

Copy Deadline	Mailing Date
April 1, 1985	April 30, 1985
July 1, 1985	July 31, 1985
October 1, 1985	October 31, 1985

To the Editor

Editor, Beardie Bulletin
To The BCCA Membership,

In August of 1982 at the National Specialty the members present, after a lengthy and thorough discussion voted to authorize the President, Jo Parker, to appoint a Standard Committee to revise the Standard.

The sense of the discussion was directed entirely to 2 points, and it was on inclusion of these two points in a revised Standard that the vote was held.

1. Wording to disqualify over 50% white Bearded Collies.
2. A size disqualification for dogs over 23" and bitches over 22" (stated as an inch over the ideal.)

I voted for that motion.

A discussion with Jo Parker immediately after clarified the point to me that in the original standard submitted to the AKC, in a rush to meet a publication deadline, inadvertently omitted the above.

During the discussion at the General Meeting there was no discussion of a wider change. Dick Schneider, who I had just met, sat in front of me. He did not go on alert status. There was no mention of English Standard, mismarks, etc.

According to Anne Dolan, Chairman of the Committee, the motion made by Jo Parker in Sept. 1982 was "That the Standards Committee be directed to make a study of the Standard and to write a proposed revision. A clarification of the section on color and markings be included in the proposed revisions." (Beardie Bulletin, May 1983)

Hey, wait a minute! That wasn't the sense of the membership at the General Meeting.

We all had a Standard we could live with -- now we have a shambles, and a club on the verge of going out of business. In addition, the red herring of conformity to the English Standard was dragged into the controversy.

I love Great Britain, I love Britons, and in my opinion there was general conformity between the two Standards before all of this started.

Please read our present Standard, then read the British Standard. You will see, even the most uninitiated of us, that the British Standard does not say DISQUALIFY or SERIOUS FAULT, it is rather gentle. It does not go into as much detail. We were not identical, and will not be afterwards, if the revision is passed, on major points. In fact, the British Standard does not bar the "white" Bearded Collie from competition.

I heard Miss Moorhouse say that she was involved in the last British revision, and that it was "a pity" to state disqualifications (Seminar, BCCA Specialty 1983).

Please consider these points when we have a vote on Standard revision.

Dear Editor,
To The Membership,

I was very distressed to read the recent publication sent out to the members by the BCCA. It seems as though the entire purpose of a parent club and its functions are being ignored. I feel the parent club has a responsibility to the breed to educate and inform the fancy. This is not possible if the parent club becomes extremely selective in its membership. Let's face it, the days of fraternities and sororities are gone -- hopefully we all have grown above that by now. The Golden Retriever Club of America welcomes any new person to the breed with open arms. Their newsletter is extremely informative. The "powers that be" realize that in any adult organization there will be many cliques of different personalities and opinions. Yet, they still set their goals on what is best for the breed, not individuals. When reading how the Board feared there might be some type of move by the new members to try and run the club, I had to think what a pity to discourage new, enthusiastic blood from having a chance to participate.

Now to read that indeed the innocent members who originally opposed the Board's actions, recommendations and attitudes, etc. may be penalized and have to help pay the attorney's fees incurred by the Board, is totally infuriating. The entire situation could have been easily avoided. Of course we all know that hindsight is best. It might have been best if the membership had banded together and had a recall of the elected officers. Now as it stands it might be in the best interest of the members and the breed if we did indeed disband and reorganize and form a new responsive, open and unbiased organization. It is an option - and at the moment, it may be our best.

Betty Brask

Dear BCCA members,

The Bearded Collie Club of Southeastern Michigan had two herding instinct tests in October. It was a fascinating experience! For your own benefit and education I urge you to organize a test through your local club. The best reason to have a test is that it is fun, for you and your dog. No grooming, no training, just fun! (It also helps the herding committee gather data.)

On both days the weather was bleak with a variety of hard rain, drizzle and mist. Perfect weather for Scotland! We had our test at the dairy farm of our tester, Mary Beardsley, a North American Sheepdog Society member. (With the name Beardsley, it's a shame she has no Beardies, just Border Collies.) She gave us a demonstration, using three different Borders in different stages of training from a five month old pup to a seven year old expert. It was most interesting to watch. Then came the time when one-by-one our own Beardies took their turns. None of the Beardies had ever even seen sheep before, much less tried to herd them. Some of them reacted by immediately charging to their innate duty to "get those sheep". Others approached the sheep with a bit of hesitancy and warmed up to the idea of herding a little more slowly. A few had little or no interest in those "wooly beasts." It was the testers opinion that even those dogs who showed no interest during the test would perhaps pass after more exposure to the sheep.

It is quite easy to hold an instinct test. The most difficult part is finding a qualified tester. When one is found, the club should apply to Susan Holm, BCCA Herding Chairperson, at her new address: 6106 Mariposa, Citrus Heights, Calif. 95610, at least thirty days prior to the test for approval of the test and tester.

Our club is all enthused about instinct testing and we're already planning to have another one in the fall. Our entry exceeded our expectations and the enthusiasm generated by the event whetted our appetite to know more about herding instinct. Sure was Fun!

Sincerely,

Maureen Keller

P.S. Watch for news of our Sanctioned "A" match this winter!

ASHCROFT BEARDED COLLIES

... our dogs are Beardieful

Hi, I'm Erin Go's Ashley and this is my brother (behind me), Erin Go's Coco (littermate). Our parents are Ch. Glen Eire's Phebe & Ch. Willowmead Mid Winter Boy. '84 has been a great year at Ashcroft - as I whelped a lovely litter Oct. 25, 1984. The sire of these puppies is Tekla's Dragonfly of Briel. I'm looking forward to getting those puppies in the spring matches, see you then.

Specialty Critique

Editors note: The critique covering the 1984 BCCA National Specialty was unavailable when the last issue of the Bulletin went to press. Because of the widespread interest in having a critique available to the membership, it is being published in this issue. Please refer to your previous issue of the Bulletin for pictures and a complete list of the winners. A special thanks to Ms. Osborne for taking the time to provide the membership with her expert opinions.

1984 BCCA NATIONAL SPECIALTY CRITIQUE

by Ms. Jenny Osborne

A super entry, sporting exhibitors, a spacious hall, what more could anyone ask. It's 2 1/2 years since I last visited the U.S.A. and I felt that quality had improved. The dogs had much more substance than on my last visit. Presentation was superb, but personally I would have preferred to see dogs shown in a more relaxed manner. Many dogs had been trimmed. For me this completely spoils the expression. Some I did place, as I find it difficult to penalize an otherwise good dog for its handlers mis-representation. Things I felt need watching are mouths, several otherwise nice dogs (some champions) had level bites verging on undershot. Movement, in many left a lot to be desired probably because your dogs are just not trained to move on "loose leads". Temperaments were excellent.

Puppy Dogs 6-9 months

1st. HA'PENNY BLUE BRACKEN TOO. Very promising 6 1/2 mo. puppy. Lovely head and expression. Well balanced. Naturally handled to show his many charms. Very sound. Moved well for one so young.

2nd. MACCORKINDALES TAWNY ROGUE. 7 mo. Another very nice puppy, but needs to lengthen his front stride to complete the picture.

3rd. JANDE DANDY DAN. 8 mo. Very well grown for age. Needs to tighten in front movement.

Puppy Dogs 9-12 months

1st. HA'PENNY BLACK ORPHEUS. 11 1/2 mo. Very dark slate/white, with lovely head and superb construction. Needs to harshen in coat and steady in temperament then should take some beating.

2nd. BRIERY KNOB'S HIGHLAND MYLES. 11 mo. Very nice brown. Fails on front movement.

3rd. CRISCH MIDNIGHT BRAID. 11 mo. Nice puppy who needs time to fulfill his potential.

Dogs 12-18 Months

1st. LOVENMIST BLACKBRIAR. 17 mo. Very dark slate/white. The old fashioned type which first attracted me to the Beardie. Lovely head and melting expression. His handler showed him on a loose lead and he responded whole heartedly. Correct size, really strode out when asked to move. Reminded me of the old "Bothkennars". A sound honest dog.

2nd. DAWNES SIR JON HENRI ROFFEY. A promising dog, while he could not match the winner on the move.

3rd. BRANDYLINDS GLAMOUR BOY. Lives up to his name but lacked the maturity of the winner.

Novice Dog

1st. RAFFERTY'S MIRACLE MAXWELL. Fawn with a lovely coat, correct construction, but needs to lengthen his stride.

Bred By Exhibitor Dogs

1st. BIRCHWOOD FARMS HIGGINS. Very mature fawn, well balanced, moved well.

2nd. HARMONYS ONE NIGHT STAND. Dark slate, balanced dog, moves well. Needs to harshen in coat.

3rd. BRIERY KNOB WINTER HARVEST. A nice puppy. No major faults. Just a baby.

American Bred Dogs

1st. HA'PENNY MOONLIGHT HUNTER. Fawn. Well balanced, good head, nice expression. Moved well.

2nd. BLUWEIRIES MASTER RHETT. What a pity he refused to co-operate with his handler. There was nothing I didn't like about him, but I couldn't assess his movement.

3rd. HA'PENNY A&P ARTFUL DODGER. Correct size. Well constructed. Moved well. TRIMMED FEET.

Open Dogs

1st. BEARANSON BLUE PETER. A lovely broad skull, dark eye, strong muzzle. Well balanced body. Strode out covering the ground with an easy fluent stride.

2nd. LITTLEFALLS JUSTIN THYME. A close decision. Just preferred strength of muzzle on winner.

3rd. AMULREE ARGO WHAUPHILL. Completed trio of very nice dogs.

Puppy Bitches 6-9 Months

1st. CLASSICALS ANGEL ON PARADE. 6 mo.

2nd. CLASSICALS CHRYSAL D'ARQUE. 7 mo.

Two absolutely super puppies both very mature for age. Both super construction, both correct size, both outstanding movers. Very difficult to separate. The first had a slight edge on strength of foreface.

3rd. EMSHIRE'S ASHLEY'S SPECIAL TOO. 6 mo. A lovely puppy who was unfortunate to meet the other two. She only needs time.

Puppy Bitches 9-12 Months

1st. HA'PENNY BLACK LIGHTENING. A super blue. Super head, lovely eye, BUT why had it been stripped out!!! Well constructed. Moved well.

2nd. CLASSICAL STAR BABY. Same type as everything else from this kennel, but front movement restricted today.

3rd. CAULDBRAES MORAG OF ARROCHAR. Another nice baby. Well balanced, lovely head and expression. Moved adequately.

Bitches 12-18 Months

1st. HEATHER O'JANKEN. Between coats. Beautiful head, kindly expression. Well constructed. Moved well.

2nd. JANDE GLORIOUS GLORIA. Well balanced, and sound. Coat needs to settle.

3rd. CALLANDER'S AMBER ANGEL. A lovely girl who had left all her coat at home.

Bred By Exhibitor Bitches

1st. SHILOH'S BREEZY BLUE ANGEL. A sound honest Beardie. No glamour girl, but everything in the right place.

2nd. LOVENMIST BLUE CHAMBRAY. Similar type, but softer in coat.

3rd. EMSHIRE'S YVETTES DREAM MAKER. A balanced outline, since she is only one year old, could not match the winners on maturity.

American Bred Bitches

1st. BLUWEIRIE KRISTABEL. A well balanced bitch. What coat she had was of correct texture.

2nd. EMSHIRE'S NATIVITY. Well balanced. Correct size, preferred muzzle of winner.

3rd. HA'PENNY DAW-ANKA SPRING TULIP. Well balanced, moves well, but lacks maturity.

Open Bitches

1st. PADWORTH BLACK BEAUTY. No I didn't recognize her. Super head and expression. Well balanced. Moves very well and in full coat. Now coming to her best.

2nd. CLASSICAL'S SILVER CLOUD. Another lovely bitch. Just preferred coat texture of winner.

3rd. WIN-SOMM BLUE ANGEL LACE. Similar to 2nd, a close decision.

Veteran Dogs

1st. CH. MISTY SHADOW OF WILLOWMEAD. 13 1/2 yrs. I last saw him in 1972. A worthy champion. In superb condition. Really enjoyed his day out.

Veteran Bitches

1st. CH. RICH-LINS MOLLY OF ARCADIA. 9 yrs. 11 mo.

2nd. CH. HA'PENNY BLUE BLOSSOM. 8 1/2 yrs.

3rd. GRAYLEN BONNIE FROM ROBDAVE. 11 yrs. 11 mo. Three lovely girls, again in superb condition. All enjoying their day out. Molly was the one who despite maternal duties had kept her topline. Veteran is my favorite class. I love to see the oldies enjoying being the centre of attention again.

Best Of Breed

We started by splitting into 10's, then we split down to 4 dogs and 4 bitches. This was a difficult class numerically, quality-wise and age-wise. The majority were worthy champions. Several of the younger dogs and bitches to me lacked the finish one expects in a champion.

Best Bitch and Best in Show

CH. LITTLEFALL'S ROSE ELLEN. The more I looked the better I liked. Super head and expression, arched neck let into well laid shoulder, long deep ribcage and short loin. Well bent stifle and low set hock. When asked to move she floated round covering the ground with reach and drive. To complete the picture she was in full coat.

Best Dog Res. Best in Show

CH. POTTERDALE PARIS. A very glamorous dark brown/white. Very mature for 20 mo. Super construction. Dark straight coat. Thoroughly enjoying his day. Moves Well.

FORWARD...taking your dog with you

Hi again, Kandy here, back after some hectic holidays, fun dog shows, and not enough time to train. But is there ever enough time for that?

I thought I'd explain the two systems I'm now using to report scores throughout the year so that all the non-obedience people could follow our progress too.

The Average Score is just that, an average of all the scores earned by a particular dog in one level of class throughout the year. (i.e. Novice, Open, Utility) The number in parentheses is the number of scores reported.

The Delaney System is one used by many obedience associations to rank dogs in their respective levels. The number represents the number of dogs defeated each time a dog places in its competing class. (1st, 2nd, 3rd, 4th, and, of course, H.I.T.)

Sounds pretty simple, right? But wait till next time and I'll throw in the Shuman System; it's a "doozie".

Now I would like to give some recognition to all of the new titles put on this year, through the December Gazette.

In looking over the titles, it seems that there is a difference in the number of titles put on dogs versus bitches. Does anyone find it easier to work with one sex than the other? Or is it just a question of the number of dogs vs bitches produced? I have limited experience working with the females in obedience, but my finding is that my males have more of the independent security needed to work in the advanced classes, especially Utility. Maybe age is also a factor and an influence on the ratio of dogs to bitches. How about some of you long-term Beardie trainers dropping a line or two giving your findings and/or opinions so I can share them in this column.

By the way, I have received only a few of the obedience titles you have put on your Beardies past. Please don't forget to send them so I can publish an up-to-date, complete list at the end of this year. Thanks for your support.

Am. Can. Ch. Brambledale Blue Bonnet, CD

April 15, 1972-October 6, 1984

There are a few breeds which are represented by just one dog. Bonnet was surely that dog in Bearded Collies.

Her record as first CD, first champion, first Best in Show, speaks for itself. What a privilege and thrill it was to watch her in the ring. But the show dog is only a part of the picture — to Robert and Henrietta, who loved her best, we send our love and sympathy. In some small way we all felt that we owned her — just a little.

There will never be another Bonnet.

WHY A BEARDIE isn't a Rough Collie

by Anne V. Dolan

Many of you have seen the following article in the AKC Gazette several months back. To her very great credit -- and to the BCCA's vicarious good fortune -- its author, well-known Beardie breeder Anne V. Dolan, recently received the extremely prestigious Dog Writers' Association of America's award for her endeavor, over 96 other entries in the category. We are reprinting her winning entry here for your enjoyment -- with the permission of the AKC Gazette -- and offer our congratulations to Anne for her outstanding achievement.

Picture this scenario, (it happens over and over again): You are walking down a street, Beardie on leash, tail wagging, body undulating, when a passerby, unable to resist this shaggy charmer asks, "What kind of dog is this?" You reply, "It's a Bearded Collie." The passerby responds incredulously, "A Bearded Collie? Well, it certainly doesn't look like a Collie!" Of course not, because it isn't a Collie, although they do share the same Gaelic names and origin as a sheep dog.

A Look Of Its Own

Stand back objectively and examine this interesting dog. Medium sized, shaggy and not terribly glamorous, the Beardie has a wonderful expression, reflecting the paradox of his personality. This delightful expression is indeed one of the hallmarks of the breed: wistful, intelligent, dreamy, inquiring and quite determined—all this in one glance! His body should be strong but never heavy, and his mind is as quick and agile as is his body.

To really understand this breed, study its original function. Under characteristics, the standard to the Bearded Collie reads, "The Bearded Collie is hardy and active, with an aura of strength and agility characteristic of a real working dog. Bred for centuries as a companion and servant of man, the Beardie is a devoted and intelligent member of the family. He is stable and confident, showing no signs of shyness or aggression. This is a natural and unspoiled breed."

A Beardie is rather a complex character. If you like a challenge, then he'll appeal to you. He is endlessly energetic, curious, inventive, intense, independent, intelligent and determined. He loves to bark, has a boisterous love of life and is indeed a worthy companion. Needing most of all to be a companion and equal, he requires close contact with his human family. This is as important to him as food and water. He is a poor candidate for the kennel.

Understanding His Past

What makes the Beardie what he is? The key to the present is in the past. Begin by taking an imaginary journey to Scotland, the original home of the working Beardie. Close your eyes and capture a little of the magic of this beautiful country. The ancient castles, the mists, mountains, lochs, the lilt of a lone piper on a hill. The soft Gaelic names of the crofts on the hillside: Blairnairn, Inverlauren, the Duirlands. Capture this enchantment, and you'll easily understand the magic of the Beardie.

He is a dog with very humble roots—always a worker, both in the mountainous Highlands and in the gentler slopes of the Lowlands. He would be out on a hillside, running, climbing, scambling, thereby demonstrating the Beardie's decidedly high energy level.

Imagine the terrain on which the Beardie worked. The Highlands of Scotland are truly beautiful. Great mountains are a brilliant green, and are deeply etched with rocks and streams, or "burns" as they are referred to. They are covered with heather, craggy rocks, and endless stretches of bracken, a tough fern which often grows over six feet tall. Picturesque as it is, the bracken spreads quickly and is nearly indestructible, interfering with the already sparse grazing. On these mountains, dotted with small crofts and farms, the sheep graze. They are moved from area to area as the shepherd sees fit. This is the task of the Beardie, and this type of worker is called a Huntaway. The Beardie's boundless energy is called upon, as working on these steep hillsides requires stamina, drive and strength.

In these mountainous sections the flock of sheep frequently are scattered widely over a large area. The sheep often are unaware that the dog is working and gathering nearby, so the Beardie must bark while he works which alerts and frightens the sheep, causing them to flock together. This makes the dog's job much easier. His bark will also convey his location to the shepherd, as the dog is often out of sight in this type of terrain. The Beardie must also think for himself. If he is out of sight of the shepherd, and a problem occurs, such as sheep breaking away from the flock, he must make a decision without waiting for the vocal command or whistle from the shepherd.

The Beardies in the southern part of Scotland work differently. The hills there are gently sloping and less mountainous, so the dog utilizes more "eye"—an intense, unblinking gaze used by the dog to control the sheep. This almost hypnotic gaze is often accompanied by a creeping approach to the animals.

Shepherd Relationship

What about the Beardie's relationship with the shepherd? This type of farmer is apt to be a lean, sparse man with a face lined by weather. Since the crofts in the Highlands are often remote and isolated, family and dogs are his closest companions. He depends on his dog to assist him in the endless hours of sheep-farming work. With great understated pride, the Scottish shepherd will talk to you about his dog, as he leans on his ever present crook. The bond between man and dog is a secure one.

Today, the Beardie displays for us all of these inherent qualities. The energy, intelligence, independent spirit, and strong need to be with his master, all make sense. By understanding a Beardie's ancestry, the master knows he'll never "own" the Beardie and he sees why the Beardie expects to be treated as an equal.

Major Jim Logan of Scotland, a true friend of the breed, wrote an intuitive paragraph on the Beardie. It surely reflects the very essence of the breed:

"A Beardie is a dog of almost overpowering friendliness, extremely active, boisterous, an expert in escapology, a dog with a loud bark who is not afraid to use it. It is not a dog for the house-proud or car-proud, for the fanatical gardener, or for parents of nervous children, or for those who are forced to leave it in the house all day. But for anyone who is prepared to train it and control it, to exercise it and to look after its coat, to put up with the mud, sand, or worse that it will bring into the house, and to keep it occupied, there is no breed which will provide more faithful companionship or greater entertainment."

by ALICE BIXLER CLARK

Just what is a Bearded Collie?

A Beardie is springtime on snowflake paws. It's a happy grin, eyes brimming with innocence and a calculating mind covered in a shaggy coat cleverly concocted to invite cuddling. It's an insistent paw stripping the blanket from your shivering shoulders and a chill, damp nose nuzzling your neck at sun-up. It's your shadow.

A Beardie has carefully concealed coiled springs for hind legs and believes that heeling at shoulder height is a perfectly acceptable practice. A Beardie can jump into the air facing north and come down facing south - removing your hat and kissing your ear in the process. A Beardie is devotion with a dash of devilishness, intelligence peppered with impishness and spirit sparked with a sense of humour.

A Beardie is a study in contrasts. She can hear you take out your car keys from five rooms away but can't seem to hear your shout of "Come!" from 10 feet. The sound of running water in her dish brings her to the bathroom but the sound of running water in the tub results in her disappearance. She'll turn up her nose at her own dinner and gobble up someone else's - even though they're exactly alike. And you can always count on her to be well-behaved - except when you have company.

A Beardie is a glorious whirlwind of flying fur, a non-stop wag with dog attached. Or it's a pleading face in the window, a paw against the pane, hoping you'll reconsider and return. A Beardie is a "You're-not-alone" nudge under your elbow when you're feeling down and an inquisitive tilt of the head when you talk. A Beardie is an audience, a companion and a friend. Living with a Beardie may not always be easy, but living without one is impossible.

Ready For Sanctioning?

by Maureen Keller

It is normal for a group of people who have similar interests to be drawn together. This group can last for years with informal "get-togethers", or they can grow into a more formal association known as a club. At the '84 annual meeting of the BCCA there was some discussion on the formation of new clubs. What Webster defines as a club and what AKC requires of a club are two distinct matters. If a club wants to remain an informal group that is one option. If at any time in its future it wants to hold an AKC event, it should consider abiding by AKC requirements long in advance of the event. This is initially accomplished by keeping accurate records. As long as new clubs are being formed they should be aware early in their development of AKC rules.

The following data and quotes in this article are taken from a booklet called "The Formation of Dog Clubs". Interested clubs or individuals should write to: AKC, Show Plans - New Clubs, 51 Madison Ave., New York, NY, 10010, for a copy of the booklet.

The AKC defines a local specialty dog club as "a harmonious group of fanciers capable of working together to serve the best interests of the sport" with "members residing in a relatively restricted geographical area" and "actively engaged in promoting and protecting the sport". Interestingly "Dissatisfaction with an existing club is not sufficient reason to form a new club in the same area."

It is recommended that specialty clubs offer obedience at the club's events. In this way advancement of the club's obedience status can be accomplished simultaneously with the club's conformation status. "Before a new club is permitted to hold its first sanctioned match, the club must be officially placed on AKC's records." New groups must demonstrate that its members are active participants in the dog sport.

Before a club can hold sanctioned events it must fulfill certain requirements. The club's name should pinpoint its geographic center of activity and should be readily recognizable to someone from another part of the country. The club should have "acceptable" Constitution and By-Laws. By the word "acceptable" the AKC means exactly like the one they provide as a sample. New groups must be in existence over an extended period of time, holding regular meetings and activities. Before a club can hold sanctioned matches it must have held several fun matches. Membership lists must be submitted to AKC including complete names and addresses, and designations whether B (Breeder), E (Exhibitor), or DO (Dog Owner). A record of the club's development should be presented to AKC. It should briefly outline the club's history of activities, meetings, community events and social events.

It's important to keep accurate records of the members exhibiting and breeding activities. The quality of the club's activities is important also. When a club has fulfilled the above requirements it may make an application to hold a sanctioned match. The application forms are supplied by AKC. The "Match Regulations" booklet is also available from AKC.

There are two different types of sanctioned matches. "B" matches are informal and the purpose is to establish the club's ability to conduct a dog show as well as to stimulate interest in the area. "A" matches are more formal and are intended to assure AKC that the club has the knowledge and ability to put on a show equivalent to a licensed event. Specialty clubs must hold a minimum of three "B" matches with at least 6 months between them. Within seven days after each match the club should submit a report of that event. A Match Report Form is supplied with the letter of approval from AKC.

When a club has had three successful "B" matches it should notify the AKC that it wants to apply for "A" status. Current membership lists, exhibiting and breeding records, and revised constitution and by-laws, should again be submitted to AKC. After the club has received permission to move to the "A" level it may make an application to hold a sanctioned "A" match.

Before moving to the "A" level the AKC considers: 1. "The continuity and development of membership." (High membership turnover is frowned upon.) 2. "Quality of interest of the club's "sustaining" members. (Roughly 30% breeding experience and 50% exhibiting experience) and 3. Quality of activities and events, as well as "B" matches.

Once the club has reached the level of sanctioned "A" matches it may submit a presentation and request for advancement to the holding of licensed events. All current records should be again submitted to AKC. It is an educational experience for all clubs.

The above information is only a very brief summary of some of the rules and guidelines. Any club anticipating becoming sanctioned should obtain the aforementioned booklets and closely follow the guidelines.

American/Canadian Ch Bluweiries Master Rhett
(Amer/Can Ch Algobrae Sterling Silver x Ch Lochengars Piglet)

Rhett had a marvelous year. He began '84 by going Best in Match at the Chicagoland Bearded Collie Club Specialty match in January. And he ended '84 by going Best of Breed at his December shows. In between, Rhett finished his Canadian and American championships and went Winners Dog at the Canadian National Specialty. Adding to this, Rhett has sired a lovely first litter x Lochengars Old Curiosity Shop ROM.

We also want to congratulate Bluweirie Kristabel and her owner, Donna Erklin. Kristi took a major at the Lake Shore Kennel Club show in November. This win came on Kristi's first show weekend since the BCCA specialty where she placed first in her class.
