VERSATILITY NEWS

Joanne Williamson • balgrae@ixnetcom.com.

This month I am very proud to report that the newest Master of Versatility award winner is my very own RACH Britannia Ripple In Time CDX PCD BN RAE2 RM2 HSAdS HSBd OA OAJ NF CGC TKI. Ripple is the 25th MV and the first with a RACH.

The New Titles report listing titles earned in November, 2020 has not arrived yet.

The following teams completed the requirements for versatility awards in October.

With the creation of a new standing committee for scent sports, versatility will have a ninth venue for titling! This new BCCA committee will oversee scent work, barn hunt, and search and rescue. What does this mean for versatility awards? First, scent work, barn hunt, and search and rescue titles will be moved from miscellaneous to their own category, Scent, and can therefore meet venue requirements for versatility awards independent of miscellaneous. In order to count toward versatility awards, those earning barn hunt titles MUST still apply to have these titles added to their dog's permanent record so that they will show up in the monthly AKC New Titles report.

Second, as a venue represented by a BCCA standing committee, championship titles earned can be counted toward the requirements for an MV when they become available. At present only barn hunt has a Champion-level title. There are currently five Bearded Collies recorded with a RATCH, none of whom has all of the other requirements for an MV. Scent work is a rapidly growing AKC sport and it likely won't be long before there is a championship scent work title.

I have gone through the monthly new title reports for the last four years and have found the following dogs will now qualify for versatility awards based on the addition of the new venue. If you think your Bearded Collie has qualified and you do not see his/her name here please contact me.

HERDING

Elsa Sell, Herding Chair • beaconbb@bellsouth.net

With many of us still sequestered by COVID, the featured topic this month is provided as an opportunity for a beginner – to learn something new, stimulate the brain, and gain satisfaction. Even if you never ever plan to shed with your Bearded, I guarantee there are valuable lessons in this material. Next month I may or may not have the BCCA herding awards calculated because AKC is having some struggles in getting out reports.

THE ELUSIVE SHED: THE ART OF COMMUNICATION

By Pat Taylor

PART I

(Reprinted from AHBA Oct-Dec 2020 Events Bulletin with Pat Taylor's permission)

There are two thoughts on how to Shed. The Recall Shed: To simply fetch the sheep to you and recall the dog through the sheep splitting them; and/or you make the split in the sheep yourself then call the dog through the gap. Afterward, you drive one group of sheep away from the other. Simple. Anyone that depends on this method knows that it's hit-or-miss. Sometimes, the person can't make the sheep split for the call through. Sometimes, the sheep won't orient to the handler because they're too light or they're too heavy and too handler oriented (e.g., knee knocker sheep) and every time the handler calls the dog, the entire group of sheep move as one or hug tightly to the handler. Pick an excuse, the Shed doesn't happen.

There is another option... to actually train a shed. A Shed where the dog and handler work as a team to accomplish a mutual goal. Where the dog can be trained to target specific sheep and to push a hole through a group with control. Your choice. I'm going to train a real shed, not just a call through. For those that have sheep and do a lot of sorting the below will help target sheep for the sort and allow better usage of the dog.

To accomplish a Shed consistently and successfully on any type of sheep, there are specific training elements that are needed. I'm going to assume you're training the below elements:

- A Drive
- A straight Walk-Up
- Possibly a Walk-In (not needed but can be added)
- A square Flank (turns at a 90° angle)
- Crisp short square Flanks (a step or two at a time on a flank)
- A Here command (This is my recall command, but I tweak it for modifying another command or use as a steering wheel.)

- Down/Stand/Stay
- Mark Behavior (understanding by both you and the dog, see my Marking Behavior article)
- A There (stop forward motion and turn and reorient to stock)
- The dog has to be Verbally Competent/Compliant without needing physical cues
- Possibly an Out (see my Training an Out article)

Training the Shed is a progression of training exercises. Trained in the order set out below, by the end of training, the dog should understand the task of shedding. There is no way to guess all the scenarios that may happen when trialing. Many times, success depends on the handler's decisions at the time. A good handler can compensate for a poorly trained dog but so also can a well-trained dog compensate for bad sheep or a novice handler. This article is what it takes for me to train a dog to an understanding of a Shed so that the dog is a willing participant.

I'll try to set out the progression of training then explain how to train it:

- Drive on a fence line and practice holding sheep.
- Recall to handler on the fence line through a large group of sheep.
- Walk-In toward the handler on the fence line through a large group of sheep.
- Walk-In toward the fence (handler removed) through large group of sheep.
- Driving on fence line with a Hold and Shed by dog on fence line (no handler in area).
- Hold and Shed out in the open with handler.

The Shed is an exercise where I tell handlers to use their words to help the dog. The dog needs to understand what you are asking and how you want it done. Without training specific commands for a specific response in the dog, you will truly be fighting with the dog during the whole Shed. If the dog understands what each command means and responds appropriately, then the Shed will come naturally and easily for the dog. Use your words to explain exactly what you want from the dog. If you haven't trained those words, then at this point you need to go back and do it.

I use 10 to 20 head of sheep to start training the Shed. More would be even better, as it allows for easier Shedding/Splitting of stock at the start of your training.

You want to train the concept of the Shed to your dog first. Once the dog learns the concept it will be easier to manipulate the dog with commands.

Before I start training the Shed, I will teach the dog how to hold stock on a fence line. I will drive (not fetch) stock along a fence line and then flank the dog around so that it is in a position that stops all motion from the stock. If the stock move, I will reposition the dog to again stop all motion from the stock, effectively holding the stock on the fence. I will do this repeatedly to get the dog used to flanking and then positioning and repositioning itself to hold stock in one place along a fence line. I want the dog to get used to applying pressure on the stock to maintain control of them during the hold. This will set the dog up for a good Walk-Up/Walk-In when you start the Shed as well as teach the dog patience. I may have the dog Hold the stock for a few minutes in one place after the dog is comfortable and proficient at this exercise. We're not walking the dog up yet, other than to position the dog to apply pressure appropriately. I just want to do a Hold on the fence line.

Some dogs will "fall off the wagon" trying to do a Hold on the fence line. Too much pressure. Remember the dog is doing this exercise by themselves. The handler is not near the dog. The dog will fall into pressure and dive into the sheep or bounce out of pressure and not hold their position. If necessary, go back and do some packed pen work and train the dog to take the pressure. Go back and put the dog on a long line. Whenever you have a problem take a step back and train what the dog knows up to the point of the problem. Then deal with the problem before moving on. There are NO excuses for not being able to train anything in this article. All it takes is time and training.

To train the concept of a Shed, I start on a fence line. I'll hold stock on a fence line with the dog and position myself on the fence behind the stock at approximately the midpoint. I will then simply recall the dog through the stock.

What I want to do with the recall is mark the behavior of the dog during the call-through. Every time I call the dog I want to mark when the dog turns its head to look either left or right at the stock as it recalls. I want to mark the behavior with a "No". When the dog focuses back on the handler mark it with a "Yes". A Recall is an "off contact" exercise where the dog is to simply recall directly to me and ignore its surroundings. The only reason I start this exercise with a Recall is to allow the dog to Split the sheep repeatedly without working either group of sheep and to get the dog used to allowing the sheep to wander off in either direction without working them. This exercise is part of the Pack Pen exercise too. I am creating a "picture" for the dog of the stock split into two groups. So, the dog is learning the concept of splitting the stock into two groups and its behavior is being reinforced through Marking.

As soon as I'm able to successfully call the dog through stock without problems, I'll replace the Recall command with a Walk-Up command. I'll use the Walk-Up command at THIS point, and you can also combine or replace it with a Walk-In command, using the word "In". Some people say "Get In" some say "Walk In". Whatever works for you! I'll say Walk-Up/Walk-In. The difference here is that I'm targeting sheep on one side of the developing hole. At first, I will ask the dog to Walk-Up/Walk-In straight toward me. I may have to help the dog to get them to come straight in. MANY times I have to use the command Here with the Here orienting the dog toward me for the direction of the Walk-Up/Walk-In. The dog will quickly learn the Walk-In command is slightly different from the Walk-Up but is STILL working stock (not an off-contact element.) The dog is pushing the stock aside to create a hole and cause the sheep to split. Since the dog is actually pushing heads aside to create that hole the dog is ON contact and working stock. Thus, the need for a Walk-Up/Walk-In (on contact exercise) instead of a Recall (off contact exercise). As the dog walks in and creates the hole I'll allow the dog to look left and mark it with a "Yes" but not to look right. I'll mark a look to the right with a "No". I'm choosing which side for the dog to work. As the dog walks in, the hole will form and a path will be cleared to the fence.

The second the hole becomes a clear path to me, the dog is Downed and that Walk-Up/Walk-In exercise is over. This means the dog does NOT come all the way to me nor do I initiate a Drive, but instead the dog is Downed when the path is cleared. I do not want the dog driving the sheep yet. Just Walk-Up/Walk-In until the hole is created then Down the dog. If done properly the dog should be oriented to the sheep you marked with a "Yes" and ignore the sheep you marked with a "No." The Split and the Drive/Hold after the split should be considered separate exercises. I work them separately so the dog better understands its job. When the path is cleared the exercise is over.

Many a keen dog will have trouble allowing the stock to split. They will try to flank to regroup the stock or their head will whiplash from side to side trying to use body posture to keep the stock grouped. It is your job, as the handler, to Mark that behavior as wrong. When the dog turns its head to catch the stocks' eye and/or tries to flank to regroup the stock, you Mark that behavior with a "No." Then, redirect the dog with a Walk-Up/Walk-In command oriented in your direction.

Once the dog starts punching a hole you can mark one side (left or right) with a Yes to allow the dog to understand you are going to work that side of the sheep. But I'll say this again, it is important that the moment the path is cleared, you Down the dog and that exercise is over. If you try to use a Walk-Up/Walk-In command to bring the dog all the way to you, it confuses the dog. So don't do that. This exercise should be done a step at a time and slowly, giving the dog time to digest your commands and respond appropriately. This exercise is what trains that good Shed.

Don't rush this part of the training.

I want short Walk-Ins with frequent stops. I don't want a rushed Walk-In. I NEED to be able to stop the dog repeatedly during its Walk-In but I don't really care what the body posture is at this point, so the dog can be left on its feet or downed during the Walk-In. Sometimes the Split is created one step at a time and not in one smooth Walk In.

I want my dog working the heads of the stock to create the split. I want him pushing the heads out of the way to create that hole. This also translates into the dog turning the heads loose on the group of stock he does not intend to drive, holding one group and turning the other loose. When my dog will readily Walk-In and split the stock, I'll start reorienting my body toward the group I want to drive. Since we are still on the fence this will be fairly easy and you should have plenty of time. At first this will happen very slowly but should become more fluid quickly. Wait to reorient your body until the dog is between the two groups. You've marked your groups and told the dog which he is going to drive so you then reorient and tell him to start his Drive. With experience you will be able to stand facing the direction you want the drive when you start your Shed but to start the training I want you facing the dog. You will also be able to change your mind mid-shed and reorient yourself in whatever direction you so choose. The dog will learn quickly to "check-in" and notice your body posture for the drive. Sometimes a sheep will bleed over to my two and before I start my Drive I'll reorient the dog to the other set OR I just drive the three depending on what I want. Practice reorienting midstride so you can do it when trialing.

I'll repeat, the whole time you are doing this exercise the dog will be questioning you as to which group of sheep he should be working. He will look from one to the other group as they split. Walk him in slowly. It is YOUR job to mark with a "No" the group you do NOT want him to drive and mark the group you DO want him to drive with a "Yes." THIS IS IMPORTANT! This will speed up the learning process for the dog. He will quickly understand the end goal and start driving the group you are marking with a "Yes" and completely ignore the other group.

At this point I will also use my flanks to better reposition the dog behind the sheep I am driving. Marking behavior will allow

ALL GOOD THINGS - THE BCCA 2020 NATIONAL SPECIALTY • JUNE 15 - 22, 2021

It seems the saying, "all good things come to those who wait" is true. As you can imagine, the 2020 BCCA National Specialty committee has been on pins and needles since the shutdown of events due to COVID-19 in March 2020. If you have been following the saga, you know that

- First, we had to decide whether or not to cancel the 2020 BCCA National Specialty.
- Then, as much work had gone into the 2020 BCCA National Specialty and we were essentially ready to roll it out, we sought new dates from Rotti-Ewe for herding and Purina for all other venues June 15 – 22, 2021.
- Next we were required to drop the word National because AKC rules only allow one parent club National per year, and 2021 already had that designation.
- With the date change and new name, we needed to find a way to keep interest alive during the wait for the 2021 June BCCA Specialty.
- Committee chairs put together a week long virtual specialty on Zoom featuring highlights attendees would experience each day of the on-site Specialty.
- As of October 1, 2020 we basically have been on hold, but have met with Purina Farms management to sort out questions based on using their facility with COVID-19 rules in place.

Now here is the GOOD NEWS - at the December meeting of the AKC delegates, they voted to approve the one-time allowance for parent clubs to hold two Nationals in the same year! So, we are back on as the 2020 BCCA National Specialty (held in June you to reorient the dog to the proper group of sheep. If the dog tries to flank toward the group you are NOT driving mark it with a "No". This is important when you start training your shed out in the open. Sometimes you will want the dog to reposition to prevent the sheep from getting back together. For instance, I'll have successfully shed the sheep, but the other group is trying to circle around and get back together with the sheep I'm driving off. I may flank the dog so that it's between the groups. The dog will try to reorient and regroup all the sheep. I don't want this and will MARK with a "No" any behavior of the dog that shows he's trying to reorient to the sheep I don't want him to work. The dog should then ignore those sheep and only work those you are driving. I can even tweak my flanks with a Here if the dog gets too wide. I'll mark the other group with a "No" then tweak my flank with a Here to reorient the dog where I need him. This ALL can be done because I MARK behavior and am constantly communicating with the dog confirming to the dog what I want him to do. A dog that has learned through Marking behavior is much easier to control and work.

When I'm only having to Mark a "Yes" or a "No" and the dog is turning and working the group I've marked with a "Yes" it is time to start extracting yourself from the equation.

2021)!!!! This means HIT and RHIT and all the winner and reserve winner titles, points, and honors that come with herding, agility, obedience, rally and conformation count as National wins.

With this in mind and still with the uncertainty of COVID-19, vaccinations, international travel, and border crossings, as your 2020 BCCA National show chair, I have arranged for the maximum options for an all indoor show, or an all outdoor show, or a hybrid of indoor and outdoor. We also have contingency plans for judges who may not be able to attend.

It is too soon to define which show model we will use.

But here are a few important things for you to remember.

- The RV sites at Purina will be accessible beginning June 16, 2021. You need to fill out the RV form on the www.bcca2020.com website. There are two companies that are recommended by Purina to rent RVs.
- The hotel prices have remained the same as 2020 but our contract is very scaled down. You need to book soon, if you are even toying with attending, as all of our unused rooms will be given to other groups on May 12. If you cancel there is no penalty, if you do so by May 12.
- To make a hotel reservation you must do it by phone to get the BCCA room rate. The phone number is (636) 733-9100. The hotel website is <https://www.thewildwoodhotel.com>
- The premiums will be in your hands by early to mid-April. Be on the lookout for these documents and return them quickly.

Visit the 2020 BCCA National Specialty website frequently, as there will be updates. We will get messages out on the Members List and also Facebook.

In closing, while we are all concerned about the health and well-being of our members, and will not knowingly put anyone at risk, we want you to know this National is going to be fabulous, as attendees are at the heart of all we have done and continue to do.

Class Changes Effective January 1, 2020

Entering a Mixture of Regular and Preferred Classes Within the Same Trial Weekend — Multiple Jump Heights Within the Same Trial Day

Effective January 1, 2020, exhibitors may enter a mixture of both Regular and Preferred classes on the same trial day and/or during a trial weekend. For example, the same dog may now be entered in Regular FAST and/or T2B to finish up those titles while also entered in Preferred Master STD/JWW to start working towards their PACH at the lower height. Any mixture of Regular and Preferred classes is allowed.

Please note that if a dog qualifies in Regular Master Standard and Preferred Master JWW (or vice versa) on the same trial day, then NO Double Q shall be earned toward either the MACH or PACH title. The Double Q still requires that Standard Agility and Jumpers With Weaves be either both Regular OR both Preferred on the same trial day.

Additionally, within the same Regular or Preferred classes, a dog may now be entered in multiple jump heights within the same trial day. For example, the same dog may now be entered in 20-inch Master STD/JWW while also entered in 24C-inch Premier STD/JWW on the same trial day.

A separate entry form must be submitted when the same dog is being entered in a mixture of Regular and Preferred and/or different jump heights within the same trial weekend thereby clearly indicating which class(es) and/or jump heights belong together for each trial day of the weekend.

When calculating entry fees, treat multiple entry forms for the same dog as if only one form had been filled out. In other words, the 1st run entry fee is only paid once per day, per dog, even if that dog's runs have been submitted on multiple entry forms.

Entering For Exhibition Only (FEO)

For Exhibition Only (FEO) allows exhibitors to work with their dogs in a trial environment. FEO is only allowed in the Time 2 Beat and FAST classes. Competitors must enter in T2B and/or FAST. Participation in FEO is non-qualifying.

- FEO runs are treated as trial entries. The exhibitor must enter the class(es) (T2B and/or FAST) prior to the closing date and pay class entry fee(s). The Trial Secretary must record the entry in the Trial Catalog as part of the results for that class. FEO does not need to be noted on the entry form; the handler will declare the day of the show.
- Dogs may be entered in any jump height for FEO runs. If entered in an ineligible jump height, the team is committed to FEO for that run and must declare FEO on the start line. Day of show jump height changes are not allowed.
- Dogs may be entered in any level of FAST (Novice, Open, Excellent, Master). If the dog is not eligible for the level entered, the team is committed to FEO for that run and must declare FEO on the start line. Day of show level changes are not allowed.
- The exhibitor must declare FEO in the ring prior to leading out. FEO may be declared earlier (ex. when checking in at the gate board).
- Toys are allowed in the ring
- Toys must be non-audible
- Toys may not leave the handler's hand
- Toys that roll freely cannot be used
- Food/treats are not allowed in the ring
- FEO should be utilized for the benefit of the dog and not as a punitive correction. Harsh verbal and/or physical corrections shall not be tolerated. Any determination of harshness by the judge shall be immediately whistled and the handler will be dismissed from the ring.
- A judge must monitor the entire run. Judges can stop a run at any time

Fix and Go On (FNG)

Fix and Go On (FNG) allows exhibitors to immediately reattempt an obstacle at any time while on course when the dog's performance of an obstacle is not to their expectation. This allows the dog to successfully complete the obstacle then finish the course or leave the ring on a positive note. Using FNG will result in a non-qualifying score.

Fix and Go On is not pre-entered; rather, it occurs during the course of the run.
