IS IT POSSIBLE TO KNOW A BEARDIE PUPPY'S POTENTIAL IN HERDING?

Elsa Sell, BCCA Herding Chair

TOOLS FOR EVALUATION

Family History - Was the litter from a family bred for herding capability, defined as farm work, or the more current replacement: competition in various venues such as AKC, AHBA, ASCA, UBSCHA. (AHBA = American Herding Breed Association; ASCA = Australian Shepherd Club of America; UBSCHA = United States Border Collie Association). Beardies participate predominantly in AKC herding events, next most in AHBA, and infrequently in ASCA. Participation is related to time available for training, trial locations in each venues, and handler's interest in what each venue offers.

RECORD OF FARM WORK

Ask the pup's breeder. Go watch the parents at work.

FAMILY ACHIEVEMENTS.

PUPPY INSTINCT EXPOSURE

From Pentangle Beardies, Deb Thomas with photographer Jill Lensegrav. Testing done at about 5 ½ wks. Pictures are indeed worth many words. Judge for yourself.

Lottie

Eddie and Lottie, "Hello duck."

Meggie

I asked Deb about the best time to instinct test pups. She said most border collie people say they don't worry about interest or lack of interest until the dog is older. They may do brief (minutes) exposure starting young and continuing until the dog shows work rather than play behavior. The caveat is that they are working with lines that have only been bred for herding.

I also asked a trainer in my area who has worked with upright breeds and whose primary breed is Australian Shepherds. She has found the six week age a good time to do this and better than eight weeks. Deb's Aussie person, Elsie Rhodes, feels a puppy instinct test should only be done between five and six weeks, not at eight weeks because they are entering a potential fear period by eight weeks.

Deb notes that she had used an eight week test in the past but did it at five-and-one-half weeks with pups from her current litter (see photos). She also tried to follow suggestions from Elsie Rhodes (who did this testing) such as keeping pups in crates until their turn, so they would be rested. However that didn't happen quite like it was supposed to and the pups were out before hand and then in a small fenced area briefly before seeing the ducks. Meaning they may have been tired at the beginning which might have interfered.

Lottie with a larger flock of ducks

The approach was to assure that the ducks kept moving but were not pushed into the puppies. Meggie was in the first set of two pups and so was least tired; she was awesome in her interest and was the one that Elsie liked the most. Deb has connected the most to Lottie from the time of birth and worried she would be too tired after playing for a long time while waiting her turn. She wasn't, see the photos. It is recognized that instinct testing is a snapshot in time and may, or may not, indicate the future. Regardless, wouldn't you expect to be hearing about these pups' progress with herding in the years to come? If any breeders are interested in more details about testing specifics, contact Deb.

Relative of Litter Pictured Above, Kate (DC Pentangle's If You Please ROMIX ROMHX; also AHBA Herding Trial Champion). She is niece of one sire and sister of the other sire of the litter.

NEW AKC RALLY CLASS - RALLY CHOICE BEGINNING JUNE 29, 2023

Kathy Thomas • beardies1234@msn.com

All dogs are eligible to enter this class and may continue to compete indefinitely. There are no jumps in this class and all signs are judged off leash. Verbal encouragement, multiple commands, and/or inaudible signals using one or both arms and hands are allowed; the handler's arms need not be maintained in any particular position at any time. Penalties will be assessed for handlers clapping their hands, patting their legs, touching the dog or any physical corrections. Failure of the dog and handler to perform the sign correctly on the first attempt will result in a ten-point deduction for an incorrectly performed (IP) sign, and the handler should move along without attempting a retry. The Choice course will have 15 to 20 signs (Start and Finish not included) with a minimum of three and a maximum of seven stationary signs. Courses will have a minimum of four Master level signs, a minimum of three Excellent level signs, and a minimum of three Advanced level signs. When this class is being judged by the same person judging the Master class, the course will be the same except the jump will be replaced with any other class sign. The letters RC may be added after the name of each dog that has been certified by at least two different judges to have received qualifying scores in the Choice class at ten licensed or member rally trials. That dog will receive a Rally Choice certificate from the AKC. The letters RC will be followed by a numeric designation indicating the number of times a dog has met the requirements of the RC title as defined in these Regulations. (RC2 for 20 qualifying scores, RC3 for 30 qualifying scores, RC4 for 40 qualifying scores, etc.)

AGILITY: TRAINING AT HOME

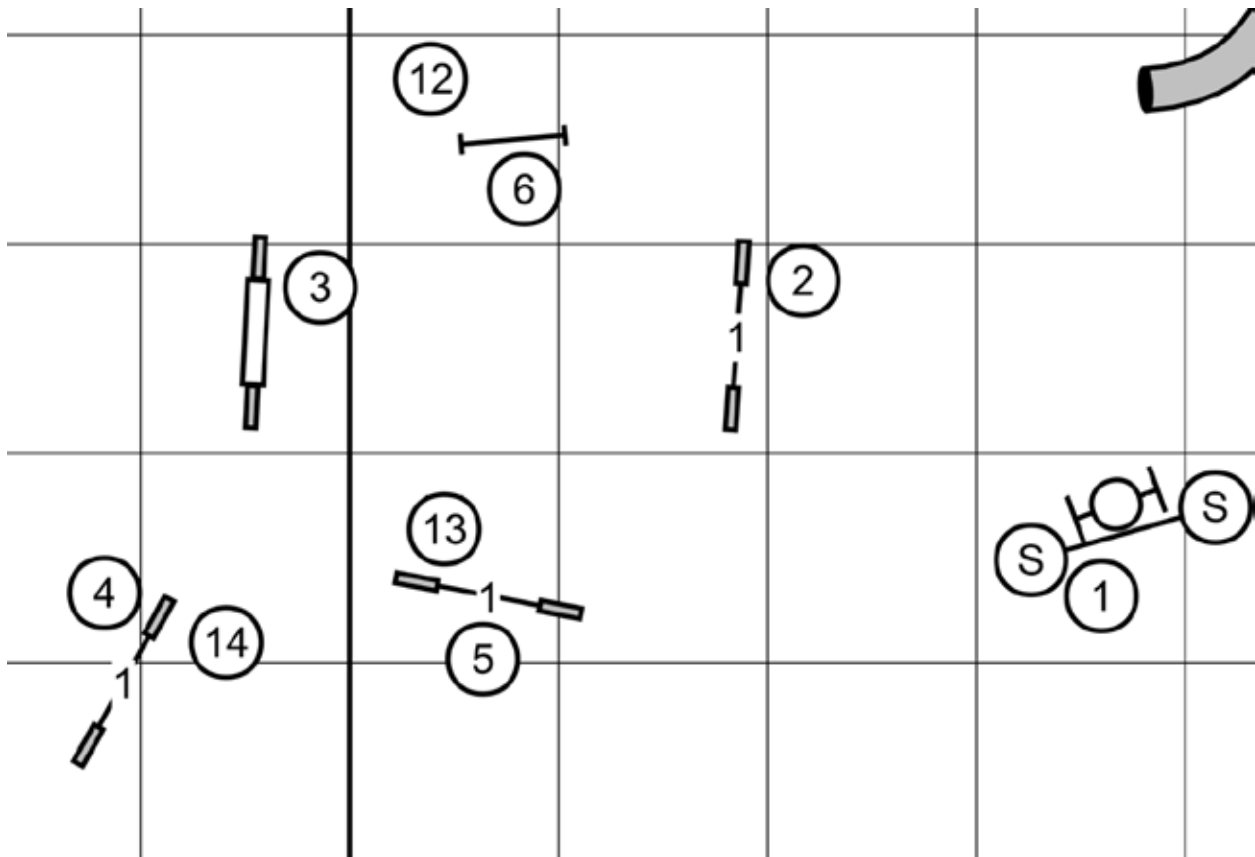

Joanne Williamson • balgrae@ixnetcom.com

I've been doing the bulk of my training at home with Truman since 2020. Fortunately, I have enough open space and equipment to set up full size courses. It's not a particularly level space and has several interesting rock obstacles that sometimes have to be built around but it does allow me to practice in a more trial-like setting. I also belong to an on-line agility training group which I find very useful because the exercise sets provided often force me to practice moves that I could do better (and likely wouldn't try on my own!) and I get useful feedback when I submit video. One good outcome of the pandemic has been the almost universal adoption of posting trial courses on-line instead of providing paper copies at the trial. This has produced a readily available library of material to derive training sets from. If you have a space about 40' x 50' you can put up sections of courses, selected to work on weaknesses in your handling or your bearded's skill set. For equipment you would need about 5 jumps, at least a couple of them winged (for backsides), a set of weave poles, and a tunnel. If I could have only one contact, I'd likely choose the see saw especially if I had only a limited amount of space. If you want to do competition agility, weaving skills are essential and you really need to have a set of 12 poles at home to practice on. Personally, I never train on only 6 poles as, except briefly in Novice, the obstacle your dog will have to negotiate at trials is 12, and now even Novice FAST has 12 poles.

To give you an example of how to find a basic skills training set for a smaller space, the attached sequence was derived from a Master standard course designed by an AKC agility judge, Deborah Hunt. You can replace the tire at #1 with a jump. This sequence presents a very typical "box" challenge that is seen over and over again on AKC courses. If we attempt numbers 1-6, the "box" has to be crossed twice. This sequence also presents another very common challenge, a pinwheel (#3-#5). How would you handle 1-6? If you can lead out or out-run your dog, crossing the box successfully from 2-3 is pretty straightforward as you can stay ahead of your dog, lead out dog on right, do the pin wheel with dog and still be ahead to cross the box again from 5-6. If you can't lead out, getting across the box is decidedly more complicated as your dog will naturally arc towards you when you fall behind and could take jump 5 after jump 2. I would strongly recommend that you work towards a solid lead out. I have seen so many runs result in NQs right at the start because the handler wasn't in a position to show the dog where to go when their dog broke the start line. If you really can't lead-out, you could put your right hand in your dog's collar, step to the left of jump #1, and "slingshot" your dog over 1. This forces your dog to take a longer path to 1 than you and should allow you to get ahead into the box. You could also teach you dog a "bypass" cue such as patting your right side as you move between 2 & 3 so that he/she doesn't take #6.

I haven't shown you where the course goes after #6. If the course went right after jump 6 (as actually it did), what handling move would you choose? If you are ahead of your dog after the pinwheel, you could do a front cross or a blind cross between 5 and 6. If you are behind, then a rear cross might be more appropriate. Whatever cross you choose, make sure it is done in a timely fashion so the dog knows where you both are going.

One more thing that can be practiced on a sequence like this... sending your dog around the pin wheel instead of running with them. If I were doing this sequence, I would lead-out to the landing side of 2, rear cross on the take off side of 3, send my dog around 3-5 while I remained "in the box" and then likely rear crossed on the take-off side of 6. If your dog needs improvement on working away from you, it can be started in pieces. First, place either a toy or a food reward on the landing

VERSATILITY NEWS

Joanne Williamson • balgrae@ix.netcom.com

Starting in June of 2023, rally exhibitors will have a new titling option available: "Rally Choice" or RC. The exercises to be used are the same as those in the current Master class except there will be no jumping station. Ten legs must be earned to complete the title.

Six teams completed the requirements for versatility awards in October, 2022. Congratulations to all!

side of 3 and encourage your dog to jump without you actually going past the plane of jump 3. Support your dog with an outstretched arm. Once he/she will take 3 with a minimum of movement on your part, place the reward closer to the take off side of 4, then to the landing side of 4. Similarly extend to include jump 5. You can stand in the middle of the pinwheel to start but try not to run with your dog but rather rotate in place. Having a dog who can independently negotiate pinwheels, will give you more time to get into place to show your dog where to go next.

We are Recruiting BCCA RESCUE

Coordinators and Volunteers !

If you are interested in a rewarding volunteer position within the BCCA Rescue Program please reach out to

Kay Sakowski at Kaysak@yahoo.com or Patty Halverson at mrsphbeardie@gmail.com to see if you qualify.

Beardies needing Rescue may be found anywhere within the U.S. and Border regions of Canada. Although we are 70+ strong, we have areas where we need better coverage. There is nothing more rewarding than working toward placing an at-risk Beardie in a loving home!

Please contact Patty or Kay for more information — we don't think you will regret it!
