MARCH 2018 AKC DELEGATE REPORT

Kathy Coxwell • hattieboo@gmail.com

The quarterly meeting of the AKC Delegate Body was held on March 13, 2018 at the Hilton Doubletree Hotel in Newark, New Jersey. Because the primary purpose of the meeting was the election of new Board members, there was less business to come before the body.

Dennis Sprung, President of the AKC, called the meeting to order and gave his quarterly report. The AKC wants to be “the go to place for all things dog.” The redesigned website is up and running, and its design is set to appeal not only to the public, but members of the fancy as well. Accessibility is much improved over the old site and includes information regarding activities and events; breed information; breed clubs; a listing of breeders; and government relations and laws. Be sure to sign on to www.akc.org and look at the new website.

The Museum of the Dog, which has been in St. Louis, MO, is moving to NY. We were treated to a wonderful video presentation showing the greatly expanded space which is located at 101 Park Avenue. The location is within walking distance of Grand Central Terminal. There are multiple floors which allow for the exhibit of the ever-expanding collection of art, memorabilia, and library holdings.

FINANCIAL REPORT

AKC recorded $73.6 million in total revenues through December 31, 2017, and $68.8 million in total expenses, for an operating income of $4.7 million.

Litter volume increased by 7%, with a total annual volume of 240,000 in 2017. Dog registrations also rose by 7%, reaching 562,000. All registration revenues correspond to 50% of AKC’s total revenues. These figures results in $2.1 million for the AKC.

AKC TV

The new AKC.TV was launched in February and allows AKC to deepen its brand connection with current customers and expands its ability to reach general dog enthusiasts.

AKC.TV is an OTT (over the top) digital channel which means it will be broadcast over the internet. The format is easily consumable on computers, smart TVs and Mobile devices. Examples of OTT channels are HBO GO, Netflix, Roku and Apple TV.

Included will be everything dog! All about the AKC, conformation. companion events, call-in shows, dog training videos, housebreaking, etc. The possibilities are endless!

SCENT WORK/TRICK DOG/CGC

The new sport of scent work was unveiled in January and had over 12,000 entries in three months.

CGC and Trick Dog Programs experienced total growth of $637,000, or 55 percent in 2017.

BOARD ELECTIONS

The following delegates were election to full terms on the Board of Directors: Harold “Red” Tatro, Ann Wallin, and Christopher Sweetwood. Ronald Menaker was elected to fill the one-year vacancy left by the untimely death Steve Gladstone.

PARENT CLUB COMMITTEE

There were 17 items for discussion on the agenda, but most of them, such as Dock and Crop, Parent Club Health Statements, and Parent Club Self-Evaluation did not pertain to us, as the latter two have been completed, and the former doesn’t apply.

There are currently 66 disaster trailers on the field with 6 more in the pipeline. 384 clubs participated and contributes $1,250,000. AKC Reunite has given $450,000. There are an additional 18 clubs that are currently fund raising to equip more trailers. In the past year, trailers have been deployed to fires, floods, hurricanes, mudslides and areas hit by tornadoes.

Veterinary Outreach: Unfortunately, some veterinary students have developed a negative attitude toward breeders and pure-bred dogs. AKC is working to change that perception through media presentations, visits to vet schools,

The next meeting of the Delegate Body will be held June 11-12, 2018 at the Hilton Doubletree Hotel, in Newark, NJ.

Respectfully submitted,
Kathy Coxwell, Delegate

The mission of the Bearded Collie Club of America is to protect the long-term welfare of the breed by providing a variety of opportunities for Beardie owners, breeders, and the general public to learn, connect, and compete, while supporting research into breed-specific health issues and rescuing Beardies in need.

AGILITY AT WESTMINSTER

Casey Minner

Westminster Kennel Club is a fun event every year. The city buzz makes its way into the show site on the shoulders of the mass of spectators; electric doesn't begin to describe the environment of Westminster Agility. Neither AKC Nationals nor the Invitational have quite the same feel. They're big events and certainly an honor to earn your way in, but it's mostly agility for agility people. Westminster is different. It's more like agility for the public and that's when things get fun. Where else do you see standing room only six rows deep right off the ring gating? The crowd hangs on the edge of their seat for every run from the Corgis to the Ridgebacks. Big or small, the dogs seem to know they're there to entertain. At least one beardie, Swagger, took that job very seriously, ensuring the crowd had plenty to laugh at and applaud for in both his runs.

Westminster Agility is for Masters level dogs only, preferred and regular. That means dogs must have their Masters Standard and Jumpers titles to enter (i.e. MX & MXJ or MXP & MJP). Qualifying for the event may take a while for some teams as they amass the needed qualifying runs for the title, although qualifying may actually be the easy part. Getting in to the event takes a whole new level of persistence. It requires overnight delivery, then watching the tracking number to see what time your entry hits the mailbox. Some folks who over-nighted and were delivered at two p.m., didn't even make the first 50 that get on the wait list. Only 330 dogs get in, they run through only two courses the entire day. The "obsessive" walk through for our first run of the day was open for 40 minutes before the official walk through started. Suffice it to say, people take the event very seriously. World team members, professional, instructors and weekend warriors alike aim to make the best of their showing on the green turf at Westminster. The bright lights, and again, all those spectators definitely make you want to do your best and earn a spot in the finals. Qualifying for the final is a complicated bit of mathematics based on your score for both runs, your placement in your group, and the breed of dog you're running. It's too detailed to go into, but the goal is just to qualify on both courses and let the rest work itself out

First up for the Beardies was a Jumpers course designed by the French Judge. The course had international flair, lots of challenges and tons of handling options. The Beardies gave it their best but ultimately we didn't have any qualifiers in the Jumpers course. Swagger was last of the 20" class and definitely entertained, having "forgotten" how to weave, which is probably his most reliable obstacle at a regular event. He sailed through the rest of the difficult course.

GCH Brenriga Wrapped In Dreamz BN RA PT FDC MX MXJ OF

Then comes the waiting. Just like a regular trial, you run one course and wait for your height on the second course. That meant we walked our Jumpers course between 8 and 8:30, ran around 10 (we were the last dog), then walked standard around 12:45 and ran about 3 (still last.) It was a long day, but during the wait there was plenty to do. Shopping on day one of Westminster was particularly exciting. Having been for Beardie breed day (Monday) multiple times, I was surprised by how much more the Westminster booth has on Saturday than on Monday, and took full advantage. As I write this

I'm wearing my new Westminster vest. Once done there you can visit the Meet the Breeds exhibit, where the beardie booth is a hot ticket. Organized by Audrey Woods and manned by many members of the Garden State Bearded Collie Clan, beardie wags, kisses, and information were in high demand. The aisles were packed and just navigating to the booth was a challenge. It's impossible to be bored at Westminster. Many spectators will stop by the benching areas to meet the dogs and there's always the agility runs to watch- if you can find a seat.

When our standard runs rolled around the Beardies were ready to go, with two out of three qualifying, and one missing by the thinnest of margins. A good time was had by all on the fun and challenging course. The biggest challenge was the auxiliary standing room the stewards had created right next to the ring gating at the weave pole entry. But the dogs were focused and made it through the additional challenge. The crowd cheered on all the dogs, laughed at their shenanigans, groaned at the faults, and were delighted by the fast and furry action. In the end Larry Dalan and Bing did an awesome job representing the Beardies in the evening final. Finishing fifth in the 20" group is no small feat (congrats again!)

We loved our memorable day at Westminster Agility and can't wait to do it again soon (provided we can get in!)

THOUGHTS FOR SPRING HERDING TRAINING EXERCISES

Elsa Sell, BCCA Herding Chair • beaconbb@bellsouth.net

Some exercises cost just time and planning, yet the rewards can be amazing and are reflected in all aspects of herding.

What happens when you arrive for training? What is your Beardie's behavior and why is it happening? One possibility is the strong association between the drive (length, road feel, landmarks), getting out of the car, and going right to work with stock. Consider how to feasibly modify the association. Few live close enough to training to be able drive there, let dog out to potty, get back in car and drive home.

Once you are at the farm and dog is out of vehicle, will the dog walk calmly beside you (not in the obedience sense) off leash? If not, there's something you should take time to work on – both at the farm and other locations, familiar and unfamiliar (but never off leash where that would be unsafe).

One trainer I have worked with says he tells people who seek lessons is that you and dog are not ready until the dog can calmly walk off leash and stay with you. His reason – when a dog can do that its mind is ready to go to work and learn.

Exactly how to gain calm off leash walking will vary with dog and person's experience.

My gal has a gentle down (and up) – so I use this repeatedly on the way. Depending on her state of mind, weather, visibility of stock, and unknowns, it may take a few or it might take eight or nine repeats. I say, "lie down" (many handlers only say down – I use 2 words because they keep my voice kinder) to mean both the down and the stay. I walk on after saying down – if she gets up, I turn, move her back to down spot, leave again. Once she is staying down and I move as far as I want, I quietly say come as I keep walking – no hyperexcited "come" or "OK." Once she is will keep walking nearby, I know her mind is in working/attention mode. Doing this simple exercise for several months has resulted in quicker downs, better stays, and walking with me on loose or no line. How close we can be to the stock for calm walk is also lessening.

Any word that stops forward movement will work – depends on you, the dog, and what gets the desired result: stop, stand, sit, lie down, stay. But, do say the word(s) kindly and softly initially. I usually do not praise in this exercise – because she is very sensitive to verbals and so that may cause her to break the down/stay. I praise verbally on other exercises.

What if the dog doesn't respond correctly when you give a command?

1. First question - does the dog know what the command means?
  - a. If not, it's back to teaching – and off stock.
  - b. If yes, then was your command correct for the circumstances? You might have asked for a known skill in circumstances inappropriate circumstances. Examples,

- i. Asking for a stop when the stock were in full escape mode.
  - ii. Asking for a stop when the dog/stock/handler are not balanced. The dog must be reliable at stopping when on balance before you move on to the out of balance maneuvers.
2. Second question - was the command timed correctly? This is a complex phenomenon because so much happens so quickly. It takes time to gain the experience to see everything that is happening, know what you want the dog to do, see if the dog initiates the right action on its own, then offer guidance/command and do that before it is too late – we're not talking minutes folks, we're talking fractions of seconds.
3. Developing observational skills. Fair warning - the requisite is to be by yourself and focused on only this task.
- a. Watch runs as a clinic or trial classes you are not entered in. See the stock, dog, and handler (especially with ducks) simultaneously.
    - i. What happens in what order? Who influences the action in what order? After 30 or 40 runs you begin to "see" things differently – and often because the identical sequence repeats itself.
    - ii. At a clinic the clinician will often handle a dog briefly to show how it should be done. You'll see a slightly different timing or whatever action(s) from the clinician.
  - b. Watch videos of herding – practice or trial. Answer above questions.
  - c. It is amazing how many duck runs go wrong because of the handler, not the dog. The stock stick is being waved around and blocking forward movement and/or turning stock back into dog. The handler's position blocks the stock. The handler is offering multi worded commands, some of which they never said before and most of which is gibberish to the dog. The handler may give the wrong command, the dog does what it knows to be correct, they get into an argument about who was right, stock get lost, run over.

Be patient and devote the time. Developing the observational skills for the whole scene and helping your dog be in learning mode will make everything else go more smoothly.

May your training and trialing be a pleasure this spring and early summer.
