GATHERING YOUR BEARDIE'S HERDING INFO

The last year or so has brought focus to issues encountered in the herding committee's work to assure your Beardie's info is correct. And, it is an older issue than I had known.

Consider Scenario A. The breeder was looking for results of a litter's pups in the BCCA herding electronic database. What she found was perplexing. One dog who she knew had the BCCA instinct test from a national in 2011 instead had two qualifying runs for HIAs at a trial in 2012. She knew the dog did not train for AKC herding competition. When she communicated with a littermate's owner, that person looked at her own dog's record and low and behold, he was missing 2 qualifying runs for HIAs. HMMMMMM. How did these two things happen?

Could the information be entered incorrectly? Possibly, but a check of the AKC report for that month in 2012 runs showed the same info – so no typos there. The breeder had found this error some years ago and everyone had done their due diligence to request correction of the error. Did that happen? I requested a rerun of the 2012 report; the original error remained. Fortunately, the owner of the dog missing HIAs runs still had possession of the legible judge's sheets. So, corrections were done in the database July 2018 – count it – that's 6 years later! Whether the missing runs affected the dog's eligibility for a BCCA herding award that year is not known.

Now what about the HIC that was missing for one of the litter? The dog was in the electronic database twice; the name was spelled differently by 1 letter (thus 2 entries – computers know only 0's and 1's) and now that dog's HIC is findable with correct spelling. This is the reason that anyone entering a HIC test must provide a copy of a dog's AKC registration paper (regular or PAL).

Consider Scenario B. Last month I was checking new herding champion dogs' information. I discovered I didn't have enough points for one dog. I couldn't figure out why after reviewing the AKC stats reports so I called AKC performance. The dog's last qualifying run for the advanced title was missing from the AKC report, so I didn't have it. Because of that, I hadn't credited the first qualifying run towards the championship. Would it have mattered in the end? Perhaps when it comes to determining the HC Top Herding Dog Award for 2018.

Message – use a service provided by your herding committee. Check your dog's record and notify me of any errors. Here's how to log in for your review.

TREASURE HUNT

The unknowns are location of the photograph and identities of the twins and Bearded Collie. So far, I know the city/state of the photographer's residence.

I've contacted others. Neither breeder in the UK hadn't seen the photo; one thought it most likely a professionally staged shot and done in the UK. Her husband suggested the girls' outfits were reminiscent of the Women's Land Army (WLA). Never heard of that? Me either. It was a government program in the UK during World War I and II to fill the gap in farm workers as the young men were fighting in the wars. The WLA did all the jobs to have agricultural products for the population – threshing, ploughing, tractor driving, reclaiming land, sawing wood, drainage etc.

So, was the photograph made in the US or the UK? Impossible to know. But, if you read the following, you will find that the Beardie (Old Fashioned Scotch Collie) indeed was in the US well before 1940. The information is from the shepherds with beardies website that was researched and created by Judi Max (Phoenix, AZ) who gives her permission for this use. http://www.shepherdswithbeardies.com/Other/1902%20Minutes/1902_minutes.htm

WHAT IS A BREED?

Below is documentation regarding one Bearded Collie being shown in the Miscellaneous Class at a dog show in the United States. Author Anne Hier gave permission for her chapter, "What is a Breed?" to be retyped and included on this website. Her chapter included the Minutes of the Quarterly Delegates Meeting, published in the "American Kennel Gazette," in 1902. A Beardie had been entered in the Miscellaneous Class.

Retyped from Dog Shows Then and Now: An Annotated Anthology by Anne M. Hier, copyright 1999. Anne M. Hier. All Rights Reserved.

Under the head of General Business the protest from Philip W. Moen against the action of Secretary Vredenburgh was taken up.

Mr. Muss-Arnolt: May I ask if there has been a protest lodged against the win of that bitch?

Mr. Vredenburgh: No, The breed of dog was not stated.

Mr. Muss-Arnolt: It is stated as an "Old Fashioned Scotch Collie." I think it is beyond the scope of this office—that it is a revolutionary proceeding on the part of this office when it undertakes to define breeds. I think I am one of the oldest Delegates here. I do not think that it lies with this office to say that this is not a breed. Without attempting to detract from our Secretary's knowledge of dogs, I never knew yet that he was an authority on breeds, and that he could say a Smooth-Coated Collie was a Rough-Coated Collie when he was not there. I think it ought to be left to the officiating Judge. If there is no protest lodged I do not think that the Secretary has the right to say that it is a Rough-Coated Collie when it is not. This dog was as far from being a Rough-Coated Collie as is a Smooth-Coated Collie, and he is an acknowledged breed of Bearded Collie. I move that the protest of Mr. Moen be allowed and the cancellation of the Old Fashioned Scotch Collie may be and is hereby annulled.

Motion seconded.

Mr. Vredenburgh: The rules say that the Miscellaneous Class shall be open to all dogs of established breeds for which no regular class has been provided in the premium list. Mr. Muss-Arnolt says that the Judge who judged the regular class of Rough-Coated Collies also judged the Miscellaneous Class. I would like to ask how that Judge knew that this dog was entered as an Old Fashioned Scotch Collie?

Mr. Muss-Arnolt: Because there was no Judges' Book and he had to go by the Entry Book, and it was shown to him what it was, and it was entered in the Miscellaneous Class: "Philip W. Moen, Old Fashioned Scotch Collie—Lady Mabel" Our rules demand that the breed be given, and that covers everything. We have not any established number of breeds here. I know a number of breeds well, forty or fifty breeds in England and possibly forty or fifty on the Continent, but I would not have the courage just from reading a thing like that to say that it is a Rough-Coated Collie. Under what precedent, under what rule?

Mr. Vredenburgh: I bow with all humility to Mr. Arnold as the Judge and to Mr. Arnolt's knowledge of the different breeds of dogs throughout England. I do not pretend to have any such knowledge. I did not see the dog. I know nothing about the dog. I have to go by the records. The claim has been made by Mr. Arnold that the Secretary has nothing to do with it. Before he can say that he has got to have these rules amended. Here is a rule which says that the Secretary of the American Kennel Club must cancel all wins when he has satisfied himself that these rules have been violated in the following instances, and one of the instances is when a dog is entered in the Miscellaneous Class and the breed is not specified or recognized. If the breed is not recognized he certainly has got to know whether he can recognize that breed, and I claim here that the wording, "Old-Fashioned" is not a breed. They had Collies; they had Collie classes; there were Rough-Coated Collies. Here is a Rough-Coated Collie and it is designated as an "Old Fashioned Scotch Collie." They might just as well have said, "A New Fashioned Yellow Dog," but if they had said "Bearded Collie," it would have been a different thing, and in order to be absolutely certain that he did not say that, I sent for the original entry blank and there is nothing said on that about the dog being a Bearded Collie. It simply said, "Old Fashioned Scotch Collie." I claim I did perfectly right and acted within the rules when I canceled the win of that dog. It is immaterial what that dog was; I go by the record. The rule says that an exhibitor must be responsible for his own errors, and Mr. Moen made an error in designating that breed as an "Old Fashioned" breed and not as a Bearded Collie.

Mr. Muss-Arnolt: By what proof does the Secretary make the claim that the breed is not known?

Mr. Vredenburg: The breeds are in the American Kennel Stud Book, and there is no such thing in that book as Old Fashioned Scotch Collie. I took the trouble to look through the English Stud Book, and I did not see any classification for "Old Fashioned" dogs of any breed. The Secretary is directed to act under certain contingencies. The only thing he can act upon are certain records. I want to call your attention to a case that was decided where a puppy was entered at one of the Milwaukee shows. I canceled the win of the puppy and fined the club five dollars for entering a dog under age. It was proven conclusively that the man making that entry had made a mistake of about two or three months; that the dog was fully within the age at which he could be shown; but as we had the original entry blank that said the dog was under age, the American Kennel Club ruled that it did not make any difference what the facts were as to the age of the dog. I have not disputed the question at any time that it was a Bearded Collie, but I do dispute that there was any breed of dog known in the world as an Old Fashioned Fox Terrier or Old Fashioned Pointer.

Mr. Viti: It seems to me that the matter narrows down to a definition of the Miscellaneous Class. It seems to me that it is a question of how breeds are established; whether the writing of the name of any breed at all on the records of the American Kennel Club is an establishment of a breed. If that is so, and the name "Bearded Collie" has never been put upon that list, then that is not an established breed.

Dr. Foote: I have had the pleasure of showing in the Miscellaneous Class for a number of years, and if we are going to hold any hard and fast rule on that class, the class might just as well be cut out. We find all sorts of things put down there: Fiji Island Terriers and South American Dogs, Siberian Bloodhounds and the like. It seems to me that the judge ought to be allowed a little liberty, and that the Secretary's duties ought to be somewhat curtailed so far as cutting out wins in that class is concerned.

Mr. Carnochan: I would like to ask the Secretary one question, which may perhaps solve the difficulty: Suppose a dog was entered in the Miscellaneous Class and he was called an "Old Fashioned English Terrier," would he allow the dog first if it won first?

Mr. Vredenburg: It is all owing to whether or not there was a classification for English Terriers.

Mr. Carnochan: Suppose the dog was entered under the title "Old English Terrier"—would he allow that?

Mr. Vredenburg: What is an Old English Terrier?

Mr. Carnochan: Will you tell me what is an Old English Terrier?

Mr. Vredenburg: I don't know.

Mr. Carnochan: I picked up a Stud Book of 1890, and saw that at one time there was some difficulty among the Welsh Terrier exhibitors, and they did not like the type, and they formed another club and called themselves, "Old English Terrier Club," and in this old Stud Book I found Old English Terriers with pedigrees. They are now all merged back into Welsh Terriers again. I ask the question for the reason that I think if a man who had entered an Old English Terrier as a Welshman, for instance, you would order him back to the Welsh Terrier class, yet at the same time he might be eligible for the Old English Terrier class.

Mr. Vredenburg: It is for this meeting to decide whether the two words "Old Fashioned" are used in connection with a breed in any dog.

Mr. Mortimer: "Old Fashioned" does not designate a breed, but when the words "Old Fashioned" are used in connection with a breed, then it does designate a certain breed. It is a well-known fact that throughout the British Islands, and Old Fashioned Scotch Collie is a Bearded Collie. That has been recognized. I do not mean to say it is in the Stud Book or anything of that sort, but it is generally known as such.

Mr. Rodman: Is not the Secretary correct in what he has done, at least to this extent: the Miscellaneous Class is for dogs that have no class provided for them? It does not make any difference whether a dog is a Bald-Headed Collie or a Bearded Collie; there was a class established for Collies; why wasn't Mr. Moen's dog put in the Collie class?

The Chairman: Under the present rule of the American Kennel Club Mr. Vredenburg has a right to decide whether it is a recognized breed or whether it is not.

Mr. Carnochan: I move as an amendment to the motion already before the house that the matter be referred to the Stud Book Committee until it finds out whether the Old Fashioned Scotch Collie is a recognized breed or not. My reason for referring it to the Stud Book Committee is that a great many of us have never even heard of a Bearded Collie. Some of us know nothing about Collies at all and it seems to be a very easy matter for the Stud Book Committee to find out whether those two terms are used for that breed. If they are used, then the Stud Book Committee will report at the next meeting and we will annul the decision.

Mr. Arnolt: I accept the amendment.

The motion as amended was second and carried.

I shared this with the AKC Librarian to see if there had been resolution by the Stud Book Committee. Sure enough, it was in February 1903 American Kennel Gazette (excerpted from the column).

"In the matter of the appeal of Philip W. Moen, the Committee recall that Mr. Moen entered a dog in the Miscellaneous Class at the Worcester Show as an Old-Fashioned Scotch Collie, and which was awarded first prize, but was disqualified by the Secretary of the American Kennel Club upon the theory that there's no such breed. Your Committee is willing to concede that the probabilities are that the Secretary is correct in his conclusion in regard to the non-existence of such a breed, but does this warrant disqualification in view of the settled practice of the office? An Old-Fashioned Scotch Collie may not be as universally common as modern Russian Pugs, Mexican Poodles, Welsh Fox Hound, Mexican Pelons, Sonoras, Lupetlas Plume dogs, Arabian Spaniels, Chinese Pugs, Cuban Fox Terriers, Toy Silk-Poodles, China Hounds, Teneriffe Terriers, Belgium Setters, Mexican Terriers, Danish Lion Dogs, Police and trick dogs, not to mention dogs simply identifiable by color as black and white fawn with a black head, mouse color, etc., but they nevertheless should be accorded the same recognition as the latter assortment, all of which (and many even more rare) are inscribed upon the records.

Your committee therefore reports that in their opinion the award in said Miscellaneous Class should be allowed to stand, but they recommend that hereafter no winnings shall be recorded excepting of such breeds as are now or may hereafter become eligible for registration in the Stud Book.

Mr. Carnochan: I move that the report of the Stud Book Committee be accepted and placed on file. Motion seconded and carried.”

INVITATIONAL STANDINGS FOR 2017-2018

The point accumulation year for the AKC Invitational Agility championships ran from July 1, 2017 through June 30, 2018. Points are earned for each full second under standard course time (SCT) in Master Standard and JWW; 10 points are added for each QQ. The top five Beardies in the rankings have been invited to compete at the Invitational which will be held in Orlando, FL

Finally, to close that early history, Judi Max obtained info online about Mr. Philip W. Moen owner of the Old-Fashioned Scotch Collie bitch who won the miscellaneous class. He was married to a woman from Glasgow, Scotland. His kennel was Ard-Na-Clachan which means "Village on the Hill"; it was located on his estate at Shrewsbury, Massachusetts. AKC publications show he owned pointers, Gordon Setters, Flat Coated Retrievers, Rough Coated Collies and at least one Old-Fashioned Scotch Collie.

This page has a link to the latest .pdf version and also contains a "Live" version where the stats reflect all exams entered to date. The new version contains updated breed pages, and statistics on exams through the end of 2016. Blue book breed pages, statistics may be freely shared with your club and members.
