Joanne Williamson • balgrae@ix.netcom.com

The following Beardies will be receiving versatility awards at the 2019 BCCA Nationals in NC. Award certificates can be picked up at any of the venues. Any certificates that are not claimed will be mailed to the BCCA member who is an owner or co-owner of record after I return from Nationals. If you believe your Beardedie has qualified for a 2019 versatility award and you do not see his/her name on this list, please contact me ASAP (I will be leaving for NC on September 10 so if I don't hear from you before then I will be unable to fix any error). Remember that the 2019 awards reflect titles earned through July of 2019; titles earned in August will not be published until mid-September.

HERDING

Elsa Sell • beaconbb@bellsouth.net

This will be short and sweet with the specialty upcoming. We look forward to Terry Johnson's report on the 2019 herding trial at Possum Hollow Farm in Rutherford, NC, Sept 13 and 14.

Judges for the 2020 specialty herding trial are Terry Wofford for Friday and Deb Ekstrom on Saturday.

NEW AHBA TITLE

Sage, Balderdash Go With the Flow JHDs JHDd JHDt DOB 5/12/2018. Owner Sandy Weiss. For those wondering what the initials mean – JHD is junior herding dog, an AHBA title; s = sheep, d = ducks, t = turkey.

Not having ever worked turkeys, I asked Sandy what they were like. She wrote: "Since Sage and I only had two lessons on the turkeys before the AHBA trials and I was still trying to figure things out during the trials, it would be hard for me to compare turkeys to anything. I do know that they will fetch to a person, more than ducks do. But Sage was doing most of the work on the turkeys. Sage loves to drive stock and I was just trying to stay enough behind her and the turkeys to keep them headed in the right direction.

I would have to say that turkeys are also more independent than ducks and they definitely leap into the air and flap their wings more, and if close enough, will get over the fence. We lost one turkey on our last back-up leg, who escaped over the fence."

DUCK PREDATOR

For those not squeamish – this really happened on the Sell Farm in July. The afternoon farm help went out to sheep/duck pen to put ducks in for the night. There were several groups of ducks;

one had a gimpy/lame duck and a healthy companion. There was a large black king snake in the area with gimpy and companion. Not only was the snake there, it had bad intentions – this is what the worker saw and had the savvy to photograph. The snake had three wraps around the poor duck. The worker (who is more afraid of snakes than I) had the presence of mind to grab the nearby pitchfork and take care of snake whose wrap was TIGHT. Another few minutes, duck would have been a goner. As it was, duck lived another month, getting around with a one-legged hop, quacking and snacking on crickets, grass, and scratch. After he passed on, his companion gradually integrated into a larger group – though still will not house at night with them. Not sure what I would have done if I have walked into this situation.
